

TOME STUDENT LITERACY SOCIETY

Not Your Average Book Club

We know that every school is different so we offer diverse Tome Society activities to supplement any book club model.

"We just love talking about books!"

Give your book club focus by engaging students in discussions about It List titles using the reading group guides and promotional materials. Students can also connect with other Tome Society members across the country through social media chat forums and online events. Get together with other book lovers at the Annual Tome Society State Conference where you'll hear from It List authors and get pumped for summer reading!

"Our students have diverse interests."

Tome Society has a diverse menu of competitions and chapter activities to engage students who love reading, writing, Anime, gaming, technology and more!

Your Tome Society chapter can spawn niche groups for Nanowrimo, Anime, gaming or whatever form of literacy interests your students. Tome gives these students all an umbrella to gather under. Tome competitions are all digitally based giving technology minded students a creative outlet, as well.

"We have a Reading Bowl Team, but want a way to include students who aren't on the team."

Many students can't commit to reading all 20 It List books and that's okay! Tome Society gives all students an opportunity to participate on the level they choose. Students can just come to meetings, only complete one competition submission, or complete as many as they like! If they are not into competing they can network with other students through online events, attend interchapter events and more!

"We love to win!"

If you have a very competitive group of students then the sky is the limit in Tome Society. We offer a Reading Bowl competition, as well as a robust menu of chapter and individual competitions.

All Tome Society competitions are submitted digitally so students across the country can participate. We will award State (and National if multiple states participate) winners for all competitions.

"Tome Society gives student book clubs across the nation an umbrella to gather under together!"
